Jamea Richmond Edwards Gallery Opening

Rowan University Art Gallery
301 High Street West, Glassboro, NJ
08028

11/7-12/21

Ms. Richmond-Edwards grew up observing the fashion style of Detroit's inner-city Black community during the late 1980s and early '90s. Popular were Coogi sweaters, red gators, and real and knock-off designer bags from Gucci and Louis Vuitton. Her work is mainly influenced by the styles of Black designers and the impact that they have had on the Black fashion perspective, particularly Dapper Dan for Gucci, and the work of Duro Olowu
