Once upon a time ~~there was~~
there was a ~~wood~~ wood nymph that lived deep in the enchanting forest.
One day, a giant lizard came into the enchanting village to wreak havoc and destroy. ~~And all the~~ ~~wood~~

If only the ~~was~~ lizard knew of the tough courageous wood nymph waiting his arrival.
The wood nymph swung his sword into the air and said "You shall Not pass!"

Startled by the wood nymph's sudden arrival, the lizard had only a moment to react. ~~to react~~

He grabbed his sharp feather, ~~a~~
and tickled his belly in hopes of submission.
But the lizard didn't know that when tickled the wood nymph would not submit but grow 5 times its normal size.
The lizard lowered to his knees in defeat.
Then he stuck his long tongue out and licked
the wood nymph.

~~The~~ The lick, as we all know, signifies peace. This lick ended the feud and all lived happily ever after !!
